Program Co-Editors

Rock's content is constantly evolving and on a three-year revision cycle such that all content is reviewed and updated on a continual basis. This includes adding new multimedia content, including but not limited to new articles from the Journal of American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, videos from the AAOS Annual Meeting, chapters from new book publications, and more.

Surgeons with expertise and interest in supporting resident education are invited to share contributions in a variety of ways.

- 1) For those interested in sharing expertise, on the Content Contributors page, select the link to form.

- 2) On the form, the options for contributing include writing new chapter content or assessment questions, editing and updating existing content, translating content, and more. Once filled out, select Submit to send in the form.

5. How are you most interested in contributing content? (select as many as you like) *

- ☐ Adding content to an existing chapter
- ☐ Writing a new chapter
- ☐ Writing pre or posttest assessment questions for a chapter
- ☐ Editing others' content contributions
- ☐ Reviewing content and updating it per new best practices, research, etc.
- ☐ Serving as a Subject Matter Expert contact person to whom we could send occasional inquiries regarding content accuracy
- ☐ Translating content from English into another language
- ☐ Other

Once received, an AAOS staff person will follow up to answer any questions you may have and or connect you to a preferred content contribution opportunity.

We look forward to hearing from you.
